

ABSTRACT

A two and three dimensional display medium having a novel transparent polymer composite containing particles of crystals doped with Yb^{3+} and other rare earth ions. The polymer composite creates homogeneously dispersed compositions without cracking or delamination of the film and can be used for various optical applications.

09/07/07 09:07:07